

Cianna Hill

The Wonderful World Of Trees

Did you know that living things need trees to breathe? Trees breathe in carbon dioxide which is harmful to our lungs. We breathe in oxygen. Trees and humans are a perfect match. Trees are a very important part of our world and communities. Trees can do many things such as providing shelter, pulp for making paper, many types of food, providing shade and health.

One of the main reasons we need trees is to provide shelter for wildlife. Animals use trees to rest, most birds use trees to make their nest/ resting place, and some animals use trees for spying on prey. Koalas, tree frogs, tree kangaroo, and the flying lemur, are just a few animals that live trees. A healthy living tree is the perfect home for are wildlife.

Another way trees are important is they make paper. Some people might think paper is a waste of time and we do not need it, but we do. I am typing this from a piece of paper. To make paper we need pulp and pulp comes from raw wood and wood comes from trees. To make paper we need trees. I am using a tree right now if you think about it.

We all eat right? Well, then we need trees. Most of the food that comes from trees is fruit. Many fruits grow on trees such as lemons, coconuts, peaches and apples. That is just a few!! A good way to get fruit is to save or plant a tree.

Now one of the most important thing we get from a tree is our health. One way trees give us our health is they cool down our communities on hot days. Trees cool us down by releasing air vapor through their leaves. Trees can also absorb dust and wind particles when you are driving to reduce the glare. Trees can save water which we all need to live. Half of our bodies is made up of water. The main thing thing we thank trees for every day is oxygen.

In conclusion, trees are our sun. They keep us going and living. Trees are so important to us we even have a special day for them Arbor Day. Let's celebrate trees like we never have before by having the best Arbor Day ever. THE CELEBRATION OF TREES!!!!!!