1. Lyons View Neighborhood Honors a Favorite Son

Over 150 people came together on Saturday, July 5, to dedicate a new pavilion erected to celebrate a unique African American community in West Knoxville and to honor one of its favorite sons.

The pavilion --- constructed with the help and support of too many companies, entities and individuals to enumerate here --- was dedicated to the late William E. "Sonny" Davis Jr., who was heralded as a man who inspired his own children and others in the neighborhood. He was an avid reader, gardener, sportsman, environmentalist, and caregiver for his family and community.

Funds were raised mostly from private donations. Many attendees at the event purchased and wore commemorative tee shirts which carried one of Davis's favorite slogans: "Where there is a Will, there is a way."

The pavilion was sited between the Lyons View Community Center and playground and will serve as a community focal point along with those assets, all of which belong to the neighborhood organization, the Lyons View Community Club.

Lyons View --- located near The Episcopal Church of The Ascension and bordered by Lyons View Pike, Walden Street, and Northshore Drive --- was the home of many African American domestics who worked for white families along Lyons View Pike and nearby neighborhoods. A highlight of the July 5 celebration was the ongoing relationships among all of those families and the memories they share. For many, the event was a homecoming.

2. City Posts Job Opening in Office of Neighborhoods

The City of Knoxville is accepting applications for Assistant Neighborhood Coordinator, a new position in the Office of Neighborhoods.

The person hired for this position will play a role in the entire spectrum of Office of Neighborhoods activities, including The Neighborhood Conference, the "Building Strong Neighborhood Organizations" leadership training program, and this "Neighborhood Advisory" newsletter. Reporting to Neighborhood Coordinator David Massey, this person also will have primary responsibility for implementing and administering the Neighborhood Small Grants Program for low- and moderate-income neighborhoods.

Applications will be accepted online until 4:30 p.m. Thursday, July 31.

A PDF document with the job description, salary range, minimum qualifications and needed skills can be viewed or downloaded here:

<http://www.cityofknoxville.org/development/neighborhoods/AssistantNeighborhoodCoordinator.pdf>

Go to <http://www.cityofknoxville.org/employment/applyjob.asp> to apply for this position. Read all of Step 2 and follow the instructions for creating an account; uploading your resume, references and writing samples; and filling out the application. (Steps 3 and 4 do not apply to this job opening.)

Browse to <http://www.cityofknoxville.org/employment/> for related information on applying for a job with the city – including how to contact the Civil Service Department for assistance with the online application process.

The new position, first announced by Mayor Madeline Rogero in her budget address last spring, does not increase the overall number of employees working for the city, because another department was able to give up a vacant position.

3. Climate Change Rally Slated for Saturday

Former Mayor and Sixth District City Councilman Daniel Brown and Erin Gill, director of the city's Office of Sustainability, are two of the featured speakers this weekend at a downtown rally celebrating effective climate change policies.

The rally will occur from 5-8 p.m. Saturday, July 12, at the Market Square Stage. The rally will feature Einstein Simplified (an Improv comedy troupe) and musicians including jazz singer Kelle Jolly, Chamber(s) and The Emancipators. There will also be giveaways and information booths.

Other speakers will be Rev. John Butler, NAACP; Rev. Barbara McKinney, Clayborn Temple AME Church; Dean Rivkin, UT College of Law; and Dr. Jack Fellows, director of the Climate Change Science Institute at the Oak Ridge National Laboratory.

Visit www.climateknoxville.org for more information, including a list of the Climate Knoxville partners and supporting groups and individuals.

4. Urban Gardens Meeting Monday Evening

The City of Knoxville's Office of Sustainability will conduct a public meeting from 5:30 p.m.-7 p.m. Monday, July 14, at Cansler Family YMCA, 616 Jessamine Street, to present drafts of proposed ordinances that would allow, and also regulate, community gardens and market gardens on privately held land in the city. Personal gardens are not affected.

Feedback from the public meeting and from later comments will be addressed as the Office of Sustainability prepares final recommendations for ordinance changes, which would then route through the Metropolitan Planning Commission before landing at City Council.

The PowerPoint presentation shown at the meeting will be posted at the Sustainability web page later in the week. See www.cityofknoxville.org/sustainability. Comments can be sent to Sustainability@cityofknoxville.org.

5. Learn about Solar Panels at Community Solar Fair

Children and adults alike can learn about solar energy at the University of Tennessee's Spectrum Community Solar Fair, an interactive solar energy exhibit, at Knoxville Center Mall on Saturday, July 19, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

This event will be located on Mall Level 2 next to J.C. Penney. It is free and open to the public. The exhibit explains how solar energy creates jobs and adds to the nation's electric power resources.

At 10:30 a.m., ARiES Energy will explain how to install solar panels on your home --- the process, pay-back period, impact on electricity bills, and related issues.

Experts from the Tennessee Valley Authority will speak at 11:30 a.m. regarding its Green Power Providers program. Children's activities and games will take place from 12 p.m. to 1 p.m. The Muse Knoxville (formerly the Discovery Center) will be on hand to provide fun activities showcasing science, technology, engineering and mathematics.

Sponsors include the City of Knoxville and TN-SCORE, as well as ARiES Energy, The MUSE Knoxville and the U.T. Spectrum program. Request more information via SPECTRUM@utk.edu.

6. Great Schools Partnership to Add South Knoxville Elementary

The Community Schools initiative is expanding to include South Knoxville Elementary School beginning this fall, and the Great Schools Partnership is taking applications for a site resource coordinator.

"The energy around the South Knoxville waterfront redevelopment makes this an ideal time to create a community school at South Knoxville Elementary," says Stephanie Welch, Vice President of Operations for Community Schools at the Great Schools Partnership. "The school is in the middle of the South Knoxville waterfront, and will play a key role in bringing partners together for student, family and community success."

Community Schools are a strategy for aligning community resources for student success, family health and neighborhood safety. Community Schools stay open into the evening and offer additional instructional time as well as recreational, arts, mental health, adult education and other services.

Each Community School is managed by a site-steering committee composed of school staff, teachers, parents, businesses and other community leaders. Community Schools are funded through a blend of public and private contributions.

To obtain a job description for the Community Schools Site Resource Coordinator, contact Stephanie Jinkins, vice president of finance and human resources for Great Schools Partnership, at sjinkins@projectgradknoxville.org.

In addition to South Knoxville Elementary, the Knox County Schools and the Great Schools Partnership also provide Community Schools at the following locations: Christenberry Elementary, Green Magnet Academy, Lonsdale Elementary, Norwood Elementary, Sarah Moore Greene Magnet Academy and Vine Middle Magnet School. Pond Gap Elementary is also a Community School under a partnership between Knox County Schools and the University of Tennessee.

For more on Great Schools Partnership, call 215-4501 or visit the website at www.greatschoolspartnership.com.

7. BZA Decisions Can Impact Your Neighborhood

If your neighborhood cares about how close a building can be to the street or a neighboring property (known as setback requirements); the size, height and shape of commercial signs; parking lots and driveway widths; the number of required parking spaces for nearby businesses; and related issues, then you may wish to pay close attention to the Board of Zoning Appeals (BZA).

Established by city ordinance, BZA hears appeals of denials of building permits by the city's Building Inspections Department. The board, consisting of five citizens appointed by the Mayor, meets at 4 p.m. on the third Thursday of each month in the Small Assembly Room of the City County Building.

Keep up with how the BZA might impact your neighborhood. Watch for the black and white signs indicating that there is a pending decision on a particular piece of property. Most signs are for Metropolitan Planning Commission issues --- which are also important --- but signs with the word "variance" are BZA items.

The BZA agenda is posted at <http://www.cityofknoxville.org/boards/zoning.asp> no later than the Monday prior to the BZA meeting each month.

A neighborhood group that keeps track of BZA will request and study the paperwork on a particular appeal, decide whether to take a position on the appeal, and then attend the BZA meeting to voice the group's support or objections.

Decisions of the BZA can be appealed within 15 days of the BZA decision to Knoxville City Council. Appeals of a City Council decision are made to Chancery Court within 60 days of a City Council decision related to BZA.
