7. Neighborhood and Government Calendar

Published by the City of Knoxville's Office of Neighborhoods to report news important to Knoxville's residential neighborhoods. News & calendar deadline: 5 p.m. Mondays.

1. Edgewood Park Offers Concert in the Park

Edgewood Park Neighborhood Association continues its "Third Thursday in the Park" concert series from 7 to 8:30 p.m. this Thursday, August 20, so come on down to Edgewood Park, 3109 Ocoee Trail, for an evening of family fun.

Sojourner McClure, a guitarist bound this fall for Johns Hopkins University to major in guitar, will perform. McClure has been studying guitar for over 10 years and has won multiple awards in competitions. His CD will be available for sale.

This event is open to anyone. Bring a blanket or folding chair. There will be treats for the kids, watermelon slices, and fun for all.

2. Submit Your Neighborhood News

This newsletter is available to publish news about your city neighborhood organization, so please take advantage of the opportunity to raise your profile throughout the community.

To see your officer elections, events and special projects covered in this space, please contact Debbie Sharp at dsharp@knoxvilletn.gov or 215-4382.

3. AmeriCorps Volunteers Join Office of Neighborhoods

The Office of Neighborhoods this fall will further develop two programs with the help of AmeriCorps volunteers who have joined the Office of Neighborhoods in the city's Community Development Department.

Susan Shin will coordinate the Neighborhood Working Group, where city staff and neighborhood organizations discuss specific blighted properties and strategies for combatting the impacts of blight. Participants in this group have been through the "Fight the Blight" workshop, which will be offered again next spring. Susan takes over these duties from Travis Nissen, who facilitated the program last year.

Susan graduated last spring from UTK, where she majored in global studies. During her college career, she spent a semester studying in Barcelona, Spain, and also worked for the Seattle Children's Research Institute, implementing school bike trains in low-income neighborhoods. She is CPR and Wilderness First Responder certified. Fluent in both Korean and Spanish, she has volunteered teaching ESL students.

Contact Susan at 215-3077 or sshin@knoxvilletn.gov.

Rebecca McIver will promote emergency preparedness at the neighborhood level. Working with the Knoxville Knox County Emergency Management Agency (KEMA), as well as the police and fire departments and other area agencies, she will help neighborhoods develop neighborhood-level emergency preparedness plans. Griff Ashooh held this position last year.

Rebecca graduated in May from Lafayette College in Easton, Pa., where she majored in international affairs with an emphasis on global environmental studies. She has been a camp counselor, Girl Scout troop leader and an English teacher in Haiti. She was a member of her college dance team and an active sorority member.

Rebecca can be reached at 215-3456 and rmciver@knoxvilletn.gov.

Other AmeriCorps members working in city departments this year are Kennedy McMinn (Parks & Recreation), Phil Kehoe (Solid Waste), and Lauren Buckley (Office of Sustainability).

Approximately 40 AmeriCorps members deployed in the Knoxville region are sponsored by the Knoxville Knox County Community Action Committee (CAC) with support from its partner agencies.

Created in 1993, AmeriCorps is a national program placing committed volunteers in service oriented positions at schools, nonprofits, government agencies, and faith-based organizations. Annually over 80,000 volunteers serve around the country. Members assist local communities in dealing with environmental issues, community development, food security and disaster relief. Members serve in a variety of capacities, either directly or indirectly engaging issues while striving to make the world a better place.

4. Free Workshop to Cover Bylaws for Neighborhood Groups

The City of Knoxville's Office of Neighborhoods is offering a free class on "Bylaws for Neighborhood Organizations" starting at 5:30 p.m. on Tuesday, August 25, at the United Way building, 1301 Hannah Avenue.

The class will last approximately 1.5 hours, but please allow a full two hours to catch the benefit of all questions and answers.

The workshop is designed not only for groups that are developing bylaws for the first time but also for groups who need to clarify how officers are elected, how members are defined, and other basic operating rules. If your group has no bylaws, please consider attending this class, because they are very important to a well-run and effective neighborhood organization.

If you wish to attend, please email the city's neighborhood coordinator, David Massey, at dmassey@knoxvilletn.gov. Include your name, the name of your neighborhood organization, and any particular questions or concerns that you have about bylaws. Or call David at 215-3232.

Priority will be given to city neighborhood organizations.

Also, although this class is open to all types of neighborhood groups, it will not cover the legal issues associated with homeowner associations that are established by subdivision developers, have mandatory dues, and/or enforce covenants. Bylaws for these types of HOA's were addressed in a workshop at the city's neighborhood conference back in March.

The class will be facilitated by longtime Knoxville resident Bill Murrah. As a member of the board of the Fourth & Gill Neighborhood Organization, Bill recently served on a committee that rewrote the group's bylaws. Over the course of a 40-year career, he worked with numerous community-based organizations on bylaws and various other organizational issues and concerns.

5. BZA Decisions Can Impact Your Neighborhood

Does your neighborhood organization care about how close a building can be to the street or a neighboring property (known as setback requirements)?

How about the size, height and shape of commercial signs? The size of parking lots and driveway widths? The number of required parking spaces for nearby businesses?

If so, then you may wish to pay close attention to the Board of Zoning Appeals (BZA).

Established by city ordinance, BZA hears appeals of denials of building permits by the city's Building Inspections Department. The board, consisting of five citizens appointed by the Mayor, meets at 4 p.m. on the third Thursday of each month in the Small Assembly Room of the City County Building.

BZA meets this coming Thursday, August 20. Addresses on the agenda include 317 Ogden Street, 708 Washburn Road, 3644 Talahi Drive, 800 N. Fourth Avenue, 1208 Kenyon Street, 1300 Forest Brook Road, 2719 Kingston Pike, 1325 Armstrong Avenue, 5401 Kingston Pike, 1546 Ohio Avenue, 1138 N. Broadway, and 6777 Clinton Highway.

Keep up with how the BZA might impact your neighborhood. Watch for the black and white signs indicating that there is a pending decision on a particular piece of property. Most signs are for Metropolitan Planning Commission issues --- which are also important --- but signs with the word "variance" are BZA items.

The BZA agenda is posted on the city website. Browse to www.knoxvilletn.gov/boards and click on Board of Zoning Appeals. The agenda is posted no later than the Monday prior to the BZA meeting each month.

A neighborhood group that keeps track of BZA will request and study the paperwork on a particular appeal, decide whether to take a position on the appeal, and then attend the BZA meeting to voice the group's support or objections.

Decisions of the BZA can be appealed within 15 days of the BZA decision to Knoxville City Council. Appeals of a City Council decision are made to Chancery Court within 60 days of a City Council decision related to BZA.

6. Keep Knoxville Beautiful Names New Executive Director

Patience Melnik has been named executive director of Keep Knoxville Beautiful, a nonprofit that has worked extensively with neighborhood groups on cleanup and beautification projects.

Previously Melnik served as Director of Environmental Health Programs at the Tennessee Clean Water Network (TCWN), a nonprofit statewide environmental organization located in Knoxville. She replaces Allison Teeter, who left KKB to join the Knox County Health Department.

"I am thrilled to join Keep Knoxville Beautiful," Melnik stated. "At nearly 40 years old, the organization has such a long history of partnerships with other organizations and with countless volunteers to make Knoxville a cleaner, greener, and more beautiful place to live. It is an honor to have the opportunity to build upon the foundation laid by so many people over so many years."

KKB will welcome Melnik at a meet-and-greet event from 5:30 to 7 p.m. Thursday, August 27, at the Fieldhouse Social (<http://fieldhousesocial.com/>) located at 2525 UT Commons Way on the UT campus. The public is invited.

KKB's programs include the Great American Cleanup, Green Miles, beautification mobs, waste-free events, schools programs, and other projects. For more, visit www.keepknoxvillebeautiful.org.

7. Neighborhood and Government Calendar

Include your neighborhood-related event or meeting in this space. Call 215-4382.
