7. Neighborhood and Government Calendar

Published by the City of Knoxville's Office of Neighborhoods to report news important to Knoxville's residential neighborhoods. Deadline for news & calendar items: 9 a.m. Friday.

1. Knoxville College President to Speak

Dr. Evelyn Hallman, president of Knoxville College, will speak at the May meeting of the Mechanicsville Community Association.

The meeting is scheduled for 7 p.m. Tuesday, May 6, at Clinton Chapel AME Zion Church, 546 College Street. "Dr. Hallman will let us know how we can help Knoxville College & share her vision," an MCA member reports.

2. Students to Offer Views on Safety, Pride

How do students in inner city Knoxville think about their own safety?

Do they take pride in their community, and if so, where?

These are questions that neighborhood groups grapple with as well. To get the student take on these issues, you are invited to attend an event this coming Monday morning to hear from 11 elementary and middle school students who participated in focus groups and conducted a healthy living survey in their communities. They will offer advice on what the community can do to enhance safety and community pride.

The event begins with a continental breakfast at 8:30 Monday, May 5, at Vine Middle School, 1807 Martin Luther King Jr. Avenue. The program begins promptly at 8:50 a.m. and runs until 10 a.m. This project was sponsored by the Great Schools Partnership, Project Grad, the Knox County Health Department, and the U.T. Department of Public Health.

3. There's More than Bingo at Love Towers Fellowship Association

With its programming being taken to new heights, the longstanding Love Towers Fellowship Association is riding a wave of new energy and community spirit.

When Tom Higen, the current president of the Association, began his tenure, Love Towers' community-building programs consisted of association meetings and traditional bingo games. "Beyond the stale programming," Higen observed, "the social perception of Love Towers was also in need of revamping."

Higens' personal experience in digital media, coupled with his and others' desire to see Love Towers reach its full potential as a community, has led the Fellowship Association to introduce new initiatives like The Chatty Café and The KUKU Radio Knoxville, a mock radio show.

Higens hopes that the programs will breathe new life into the Love Towers community as well as present Love Towers as a progressive place for future residents to live.

Upcoming programs include,

- ** The Chatty Café, every Wednesday in May --1 p.m.
- ** New Resident Meet and Greet, May 20 -- 7 p.m.
- ** Resident Appreciation Day Cookout, sponsored by KCDC, May 23 -- 11 a.m.
- ** Debut Broadcast, KUKU Radio Knoxville, May 24 -- 7-9 p.m.
- ** The newly launched, Love Towers Fellowship Digital Newsletter, available now at www.wizzdom.net/LTNL/index.html

Higens hosts the show under the DJ stage name "T. Crawford-Crawford." He offered the show at Love Towers a few times in the past but then stopped. His fellow residents asked him to resume the show.

On May 24, Crawford-Crawford's "New Bohemian Showcase," will feature oldies but goodies from the '40s, '50s and '60s. Besides music, the monthly programs going forward will include mystery, drama, comedy, coverage of politics and local events, and "interviews with a unique assortment of local and regional characters." Games and call-in contests using cell phones will round out the fun.

Higens is not new to entertainment. He was a DJ on Radio Free Hamptons when he lived in New York and on CROK web radio, the successor to the pirate radio station KFAR here in Knoxville.

For those wishing to attend the KUKU show, a $3.00 donation is requested individuals not residing at Love Towers. For information and visitor reservations, email LTFellowship@yahoo.com.

Higens records segments of his shows and broadcasts them on the Internet over Podbean Web Radio. If your neighborhood would like to know more about starting your own radio show, contact Higens for more information at 405-3318 or fse@wizzdom.net.

4. NAC, Neighborhood Groups Alter Meeting Dates

Several neighborhood groups have altered the timing for upcoming meetings, as has the Neighborhood Advisory Council. Knoxville City Council has postponed one of two topics scheduled for a workshop next week.

Belle Morris Community Action Group will not meet in May, and they will meet at 7 p.m. on the first Monday of June, rather than their usual time (second Mondays).

Oakwood Lincoln Park Neighborhood Association will not meet the third Thursday of May; instead, the group will meet on Thursday, May 29, at 6:30 p.m.

South Woodlawn Neighborhood Association will not meet on the fourth Monday of May because of the Memorial Day holiday. Instead, the group will meet at 7 p.m. Monday, May 19, and Carol Evans of Legacy Parks Foundation is the featured speaker.

The Council of Involved Neighborhoods (COIN) will take a break for a couple of months, and will not meet in June or July.

The Neighborhood Advisory Council, which usually meets on second Wednesdays, will meet next week --- at 4:30 p.m. Wednesday, May 7 --- at the CAC/L.T. Ross building, 2247 Western Avenue. The guest speaker is Mark Donaldson, executive director of the Metropolitan Planning Commission. The public is invited to attend.

Donaldson will go over details of two proposed ordinances, one that would regulate group living facilities in Knoxville and another that would provide for small day care centers in residential neighborhoods. The two ordinances can be found as PDF documents on the MPC Website. Browse to <http://agenda.knoxmpc.org/index.htm> and click on "Agenda Package Archives" at the bottom of the page. Click on the April 2014 agenda, then on items 6 and 7. Both of these items were postponed to later MPC meetings.

Because MPC postponed consideration of the group living facilities ordinance, Knoxville City Council dropped that topic from its previously scheduled Council Workshop next week. The workshop will still occur starting at 5:30 p.m. Thursday, May 8. The sole topic will be proposed regulations governing donation drop boxes for clothing and other goods that are donated to charity.

5. Multicultural, Citywide Baccalaureate Service Set for Sunday

Do you know African American students or other students of color who are graduating this spring or summer (or graduated last December) from one of Knoxville's high schools or post-secondary schools?

If so, encourage them to register to be part of Knoxville's first Multicultural Citywide Baccalaureate Service at 4 p.m. Sunday, May 4, at Chilhowee Hills Baptist Church, 4615 Asheville Highway. Grammy-nominated gospel, hip hop, and Christian music artist Canton Jones will perform.

A Baccalaureate is a special service held to congratulate and speak blessings over graduates who wear cap and gowns (or other attire representing their vocational training). The ceremony is a service of worship in celebration of and thanksgiving for lives dedicated to learning and wisdom.

Register graduates at www.thevillageofknox.com (open the RSVP link).

Sponsors encourage community members to attend even if they don't have a graduate in their families: "Please plan to join us to celebrate this milestone in the life of these young people. This is bigger than each of us. This collaborative effort is about our children who are not celebrated nearly enough for academic success.”

Organizations represented in the planning of this event include Knox County Schools, Project Grad, Pellissippi State Community College, University of Tennessee, Knoxville Area Urban League, First AME Zion Church, and Overcoming Believers Church.

6. Knox Heritage, MPC to Host Window Restoration Workshop

Knox Heritage and the Metropolitan Planning Commission (MPC) are partnering to host “Old Windows Aren't a Pane: A Workshop on Window Restoration & Weatherization” on Saturday, May 31, at recently restored Historic Westwood, the new home of Knox Heritage on Kingston Pike.

Bob Yapp, author and nationally known “old house expert,” will be the instructor for this workshop, made possible by a Preservation Fund Grant from the Tennessee Historical Commission and the National Park Service.

Over the course of the day, two learning formats will be offered. The morning workshop (10 a.m.-noon) will be a free-of-charge classroom session in which participants will learn cost-effective ways to repair/restore old windows and make them just as energy-efficient or more so than new replacement windows.

The afternoon workshop (1-5 p.m.) will be a hands-on opportunity to participate in the art of historic wood-framed window repair. The fee for this session is $20. Students will learn sash removal, safe paint and glass removal, epoxy repair, glazing putty application, rope and pulley repair, weather-stripping and sash installation.

This field workshop will be helpful to homeowners as well as contractors interested in learning about window restoration. Participants may bring their own windows to the workshop, or work with materials already on site.

Space is limited for the afternoon workshop. Register with Hollie Cook at hcook@knoxheritage.org or 865-523-8008. Box lunches will be available. Checks for the $20 registration fee should be made out to Knox Heritage.
